Closed Dartmoor Prison

Dartmoor prison, which is to be closed as a convict prison and put to other uses, was built during our last great war as an internment camp for French prisoners, and opened in 1909. For many years after the end of the war and the release of the prisoners, Princetown, as the prison is officially called, remained vacant, until in 1933 it was first utilized as a convict prison, being one of the largest in the country, with accommodation for nearly eight hundred prisoners. The use to which it is now to be put has not been disclosed but it would be rather a coincidence if, after a complete century, it is to be used for the original use as a barracks for prisoners of war.—London Chronicle.

A Cure for Rheumatism.—A painful and persistent form of rheumatism is caused by impurities in the blood, the result of defective action of the liver and kidneys. Women Coming Into Their Own

No Idle Women in Europe, Says Mary Boyle O'Reilly

"Women are coming into their own today. This war has raised the standard of women." Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly told the women of the New England Press association the other day. Miss O'Reilly, the daughter of John Boyle O'Reilly, has just returned from Europe, where she had been a war correspondent since September, 1914.

"I was assigned a rather broad territory when I went abroad," she said. "The continent of Europe was my stamping ground—England, France, Belgium, Scandinavia, Russia and Poland were included in my district. You know little about your sisters on the other side of the ocean today. There are three million women working in overalls in England. No woman over there would dare be idle; poverty is no disgrace. No longer do the women of Europe consider the fashions. There are forty millions in Europe without homes and the women recognize their duty and are doing it."

"The women who are doing the fighting in every land that I visited the armies always had the women to speed them up, and out of this war chaos we will see a new type of woman rise as it were from the dust, and as the world's Poland would say, 'O Lord, let that dust be free.'"

Hopless
 There is in the employ of a Brooklyn woman an Irish cook who has managed to break nearly every article of article that the household contains. The mistress, patient as she is, has recently when she discovered that the cook had broken the thermometer that hung in the dining room.

"Well, well," sighed the lady of the house, in resigned way, "you've managed to break even the thermometer, haven't you?"
 Whereupon, in a tone equally resigned, the cook said: "Yis, mums, and now we'll have to take the weather just as it comes, won't we?"

Seeding Down To Grass

One of the Very Best Methods of Combating Weed Trouble

The difficulty of securing sufficient help on the farms to work the fields under cultivation; the increasing scarcity of native grasses in many districts, due to the land being broken up, together with a realization by many farmers of the fact that seeding down to grass is one of the best methods of combating weeds, are creating quite a demand for information on methods of seeding down.

Experiments have been conducted on the Scott Station, at Scott, Sask., to determine the best kinds of grasses to grow, and the best methods to adopt in seeding down. Western Eye Grass has been found to give slightly heavier yields of hay than does timothy or Bromus grass, particularly in the second and third crops. It is equal in feeding value and makes a more dependable grass for hay purposes.

Bromus grass has proven to be one of the best pasture grasses, providing, as it does, pasture for a long period each season. It should not be sown on heavy soil, except for permanent pasture, however, as owing to its persistent nature, it is almost impossible to eradicate as couch grass.

Kentucky Blue Grass, Meadow Fescue and Red Top have also been grown at the station. The yields of hay from these grasses are not as heavy as from the timothy, eye or Bromus grass. Notes taken on the aftermath indicate that the Kentucky Blue grass would prove valuable as a pasture grass.

The experiment to determine the best preparatory treatment for seeding down, have given some interesting results. Sowing on summer-fallow land has given an average yield during the past four years of 2 tons 110 pounds per acre. Sowing on land that had grown a crop of roots the previous season has given a yield of 1 ton 140 pounds, while sowing on fall ploughed wheat stubble has given an average yield of 1 ton, 380 pounds.

The second year, the difference in yields from the various plots has not been so striking, nevertheless the plots sown on summer-fallow have given a slightly greater yield.

Seeding down with a nurse crop has, during the past four years given an average yield of 1 ton 910 pounds from the first crop of hay harvested, whereas seeding down without a nurse crop has given almost double this amount, namely, 2 tons 368 pounds. The nurse crop was wheat.

Oats have been tried as a nurse crop and cut for hay. This plan, up to the present, has not proven satisfactory, owing to the fact that the hot weather which usually prevails at the time of cutting the oats, dried up the young, tender grass plants.

In conducting the above experiments, the seed was mixed with the nurse crop and sown together. When sown alone, the grass seed was mixed with cracked wheat and sown with an ordinary grain drill. Uniform cultural treatment was given all plots at the time of sowing. The soil was well worked down and usually packed before and after seeding. Packing before sowing made it possible to sow the seed at a more even depth. Packing after seeding gave a more uniform germination.

Two Thousand Canadians Prisoners

They Belonged to the Forces Operating in France

According to statistics presented in the British house of commons, 81 officers and 2187 men of the Canadian forces operating in France have been taken prisoner by the Germans.

In other branches of the empire forces serving in France, the Germans, according to these statistics made prisoners as follows: British 1020 officers and 28,676 of other ranks; Australians 21 officers, 327 men; New Zealanders, 19 men; Sudan natives, 9 officers, 601 men.

The total number of prisoners secured by the Germans from British empire forces in France is 1131 officers and 32,519 N.C.O.'s and men. No Canadian losses are mentioned in the statistics regarding other war theatres. The number of Australians captured in the Dardanelles and in Egypt is given as 12 officers and 130 other ranks. In all theatres 33 officers and 976 of other ranks from British Australian forces were captured.

How He Told

The lieutenant was instructing the squad in visional training.
 "Tell me, Number One," he said, "how many men are there in that trench during a heavy rain over there?"
 "Thirty men and one officer," was the prompt reply.

"Quite right," observed the lieutenant, after a pause. "But how do you know one is an officer at this distance?"
 "Cos he's the only one not working, sir,"—lit-Bits.

Prohibition Coming To Great Britain

Let it be remembered that much has been done by the government's decision to restrict the output of beer to ten million standard barrels per annum, and to limit by 75 per cent the quantities of spirits and wines released from bond for consumption. This, let it be remembered, involves a loss of revenue of about thirty-five millions. But it is not enough, and it will soon be seen that it is not enough. Mr. Lloyd George has to keep his government together so far as he can, and we know the attitude of many of them towards the trade. But we are persuaded that the moment he sees the Vice-Spectre of prohibition, and on he will take his courage in both hands and, acting in the name of the nation, prohibit all traffic in strong drink till the end of the war. The moment he takes that step we shall be relieved of a burden too heavy to bear.—From the British Weekly.

Good Enough for Him

"I see there's some talk in this state upon the question of abolishing capital punishment. Would you vote to abolish it?"
 "I would not," was the decided reply of the old chap. "Capital punishment was good enough for my ancestors, and it's good enough for me!"—Everybody's Magazine.

It has achieved that greatness for itself and all attempts to surpass it have failed. Its capacity to relieve all ailments have tested its virtues and learnt by experience.

Life Preserver And Travelling Bag

A Unique Invention That Would Prove Useful in an Emergency

Designed not only to look like an ordinary travelling bag but to be used as one under ordinary conditions, a new life preserver that has just been invented apparently provides a sensible solution of the problem of safety at sea in time of sudden emergency. The bag is equipped with a false bottom that serves to hold in folded up the suit and other articles. The bag is attached in such a way that the bag and suit act as a water-tight unit. In an emergency all that is necessary is to dump out the contents of the bag, remove the false bottom to let the suit unfold, and get inside. The user then closes and locks the top over his head and jumps into the water, the required buoyancy being supplied by the bag. The body of the bag is equipped with a window and with valves that admit air but not water. Inside, there is space for storing food and water sufficient to last several days. To prevent disaster in case the water-tight suit is punctured, an air-tight bag that is easily inflated is installed inside the travelling bag.

Pronunciation Bothers Him

How to pronounce the "Kut" in Kut-el-Amara—whether as cut or coot—has long bothered many people. Sir Thomas Holdich says the Arabs of Mesopotamia call it "koot," the Indians "kote," and the people of Behar "kwa." So there's another great war problem settled. But there's a chap figuring in the Russian revolution with a long row of consonants in his name that is bothering us now.—Ottawa Journal-Press.

The Indian

The Process of Civilization and How It Is Being Attained

In these years Winnipeg's thoroughfare presents a panorama of towering buildings, street cars, ceaseless stream of humanity passing to and fro. But how little thought is directed to a once Fort Garry with the Indian and Red River cart. Marvellous transformation scene!

Yellow Indian as he trekked along the trail to the store at the stone gateway, present a panorama of towering buildings, street cars, ceaseless stream of humanity passing to and fro. But how little thought is directed to a once Fort Garry with the Indian and Red River cart. Marvellous transformation scene!

Who the Indian? From whence came he now dwelling within reservations selected for his domicile by the Dominion government? What is the genealogy of the Indian, when was his entrance to the vast plains where he chased the bison and deer, hunted bear in the forest fastnesses, spread his net in lake and stream, sang weird chant to the rude music of his tom?

It is feasible, in accordance with the legends of his people, to consider his tenantry of Manitoba to have extended into periods of long, long ago. But from whence did the Indian originate? That question cannot be answered. History, as an aboriginal race claims, have been shipwrecked on the Pacific Coast whilst sailing from a distant continent of which it is presumed may have been Asia. He walked inland, he bowed his head to the rocky mountains, continued his journeying to the plains whereon roamed the buffalo and fur bearers. This was sufficient. Food and clothing were provided in abundance. He remained a tenant of the prairie land.

A Scheme to Promote Thrift

Working Out Plans to Encourage People to Save Money

A British committee that is promoting thrift has been taking opinions as to the desirability of dispensing with all retail shops window displays—the idea being, of course, to remove all suggestions for spending money except such as come from the natural promptings of cold and hunger. Opinions of London merchants are decidedly unfavorable to the idea, and it does not undoubtedly go to an unreasonable extreme.

On the other hand, in time of peace the suggestions to spend outnumber the suggestions to save a hundred to one. Any retail street exposed to the eye ten thousand ways of disposing of the money in one's pocket, while if one seeks a way of keeping the money he has to hunt it up.

Recently some widely known men in New York organized a company that proposes to buy government and municipal bonds, deposit them with a trustee, and issue against them saving certificates in denominations as low as ten dollars, which, in co-operation with department stores, cigar shops drug stores and so on, will be offered for sale as nearly as possible wherever people go to spend money, so the man or woman with ten spendable dollars will have right at hand the suggestion that it may be safely and conveniently disposed of without exchanging it for merchandise.

The chief objection to the plan is that $10 is too high a minimum unit. Probably a combination of savings banks could work out a scheme whereby savings certificates for as little as $1 could be had in any city as conveniently as a bundle of cigars or a round of drinks—and the fact that they were obtainable could be kept constantly in the public's eye.

True, there would be little or no direct profit to those who issued the certificates or sold them, but the indirect profit, in the long run, might be large.—Saturday Evening Post.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freestone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied to the corns, a tender, itching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freestone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whitening his corns, but clip this out and mail him try it. If your druggist hasn't any freestone, write to the Freestone Drug House for you.

Regarded as Social Error
 It is said to be regarded as a social error to mention the island of St. Helena while taking tea at the Holsteinsollers' family.—Charleston News and Courier.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when a simple remedy as Holloway's Corn Cure is available.

The Angel Child

Embrace of Spirits Seem to Be Necessary if the Child Is to Amount to Anything

Dr. Francis M. Greene, social hygiene specialist of Boston, issues a statement which should discourage parents who are in the habit of boasting of the goodness of their offspring. Dr. Greene declares children in three groups: Very good ones, who are usually stupid, hereditary defectives and normal, boisterous, troublesome youngsters.

Two kinds of juvenile badness are recognized even by children observers in the average home—the badness of selfishness, petulance and cruelty and the badness of excessive vitality, which manifests itself in destructiveness and uproar.

The boy-world is against the excessively good child. He will have a hard time of it in school and on the playground. A streak of wilfulness, of rough-and-ready assertiveness, if cultivated, yields the individuality and strength of character which life demands. The fiery colt and the boy of dominant are to be cherished and trained with a careful hand. They are the worthwhile specimens—Detroit News.

Appraising Father's Wealth
 When the kid went to Sunday school the lesson was evidently about how it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven.

"Dad," said the boy, "you're awfully rich, aren't you?"
 "Why, no son," answered the father. "Not awfully rich, anyhow."

"Well, you're pretty rich, anyhow, aren't you?"
 "I don't call myself rich at all, why?"
 "Are you rich enough to go to Hades?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Growing Rice in Peru
 In two coast departments of Peru, the cultivation of rice claims attention of the greater part of the inhabitants. The land is fertile, there is an abundance of water, and the climate is favorable. About 60,000 acres in these two departments are cultivated, giving an average yield of about 1,500 pounds of rice per acre. It is estimated that the total production in these and other provinces will reach 40,000 metric tons in 1915-16. The quality is said to be unexcelled, and it finds a market in other countries as well as at home.

'Killed in Action'

The war was brought home to Lacombe this week, when in addition to the long list of wounded reported, three of our finest young men Philip Welch, John McWilliams, and Arthur Hansen, were reported, 'killed in action.' To the bereaved parents of these young men the deepest sympathy of all our citizens is extended. Anything we can say will not alleviate the sorrow of the families so suddenly bereaved, but we trust that the thought that their dear boys gave up their lives in a just fight for liberty will in a measure lessen their distress.

John McWilliams, son of Mrs. J. McWilliams, one of our most respected citizens, was killed in action on April 13th, in the heavy fighting about Vimy Ridge, where the Canadians so gallantly captured. He lived in Lacombe most of his life, and was a boy well liked by all who knew him. He was a member of the Lacombe Platoon of the 151st Central Alberta Battalion, and enlisted on December 1915. A brother, Herbert, who was a member of the 66th Battalion of Edmonton, died last year of appendicitis.

Philip Welch, killed in action, was a real son of Lacombe, having been born in this district eighteen years ago. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Welch, and joined the Lacombe Platoon in January 1916. He had a host of friends in the district, and was a general favorite among his comrades in arms.

Arthur Hansen, also killed in action, was a resident of Lacombe for the past several years. His parents reside at Gull Lake. "Art" had many friends in the district, and his general disposition made him a general favorite with all. He was 26 years of age.

AN AMERICAN TRIBUTE

"My country has marvelled at the miraculous feat of Canada, a country with a population little exceeding that of the State of New York, in recruiting, training and transporting, safely to Europe more than 400,000 men. For that we take off our hats to Canada as a great virile nation."

The words are those of a distinguished American citizen, Hon. Judge William McAdoo, of New York, addressed to the Montreal Canadian Club the other day. When so many in Canada are engaging in the mean game of national depreciation, it is good to hear the more impartial and calmer viewpoint of observant outsiders. Judge McAdoo, like so many of his eminent countrymen, such as Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Nicholas Murray Butler, James M. Beck and Potvin Bigelow, has nothing but profound admiration for the part that Canada has played in this struggle for democracy. The closing words of his most real address should be read and pondered by those among us who are never tired or ashamed of running down their country or of challenging the ability and the honesty of their countrymen.

"If the supreme test comes to us, under this providence of God—I sincerely hope we shall make as good an exhibit as the people of this Dominion."

For more than a year the Liberal Press has been assiduously spreading stories that Canadian equipment sent overseas has been scrapped and destroyed. The stories, to use the words of Sir Robert Borden, have been "most extravagant, unfortunate and unwarranted." The Prime Minister has been making investigation into these tales which the opposition have been publishing, and was able in the House to give them a most emphatic and convincing refutation.

As for Canadian wagons, he said that they had all either gone to the front or been retained where found necessary for local transport purposes in camps, barracks, etc. England. As for Canadian harness, it has been used in England for local transport purposes, both for the Canadian and War Office services. The British War Office purchased from the Canadian Ordnance all of the heavy harness that could be spared. The Premier added: "The purchase of the harness by the War Office might be looked upon as pretty conclusive evidence of the utility of the harness and that it had not been consigned to the scrap heap."

Canadian saddles supplied to the Canadian troops going overseas are identical with the War Office pattern, and no complaint had ever been received. Referring to the question of clothing the Premier declared that it was untrue that any clothing had been scrapped or destroyed. There have been many extravagant stories with regard to the scrapping of motor trucks. In this connection the Premier made the following statement:

"The Kelly Motor Truck was considered by the War Office equal to the Imperial standard and has been accepted in exchange for Imperial trucks loaned to the Canadian Forces."

"It is not true that the motor trucks did not arrive in England in time to equip the Second Division. The trucks for this division were borrowed from the War Office, and replaced by our trucks on their arrival in England. No detention of the Second Division in going to France was occasioned. The government lost nothing by this, as the truck supplied by Canada while just as efficient as the Imperial ones, cost less money."

As for Motor Cars and motor ambulances, these vehicles were accepted by the War Office as efficient and quite suitable for service at the front. One story which has been most current as a result of the Activity of the Liberals, has been that the Oliver equipment had been burned when the Canadian troops went to the front. Sir Robert pointed out that at the commencement of the war the Oliver was the authorized Canadian equipment, and the soldiers of the first division took it to France. It was replaced subsequently by the British Webb equipment, but without expense to Canada. The Oliver equipment was returned to Canada and used for training purposes. For later contingents it was impossible to obtain the War Office vehicle equipment either in Canada or elsewhere, as the War Office has unable to meet its own necessity. The Second Division was sent over with the Oliver equipment but before going to the front was issued with the British equipment. The Oliver equipment was neither scrapped nor burned, but sent back for Canadian training purposes. The objection to the Oliver equipment for the war Office was that it did not give the same measure of comfort, was less suitable for carrying ammunition, and gave no room for the carrying of the gas helmet. The Premier read the official statement on the subject, which stated that the whole of the Canadian equipment has had hard and constant use for training purposes, and is being used in England and Canada until the men left for the front. The official statement added: "that the Canadian equipment issued to the overseas units when leaving Canada had on their arrival in England been scrapped or otherwise destroyed is without foundation in fact."

Dr. Clarke is a Real Liberal

Dr. Michael Clarke, the noted Red Deer Liberal, whose speech in support of the Government last session attracted national attention, has once again been compelled to repudiate the petty partisanship of his own party. In a great speech before the Toronto Canadian Club last week Dr. Clarke made withering references to the "Political partisans and the men who talked of Canada bankrupting herself for this Empire," and proceeded: "Canada has done well. Some people think that she has shown some little signs of faltering. I do not believe that there is faltering. It is true we heard an echo lately, which was only an echo, and died away, as such things deservedly do."

The question was asked somewhere—and I am sorry that such a question should have been asked: "Are we going to bankrupt ourselves for England?" I know I am on dangerous ground, I can't help it. I have a habit of saying what I think. That question did not arouse so much indignation in my mind as pity, pity that any young Canadian should have so failed to grasp the magnitude of the issue, and pity in the second place that any young Canadian should have gone over the history of the British in this war and her history of other days and fail to realize that Britain is going near the verge of bankruptcy for the world's freedom."

After this scathing arraignment of the man whom Sir Wilfrid Laurier endorsed as "My Dear Lucien" Dr. Clarke proceeded to address himself to the mad partisans of the Opposition as follows: "There are great grouchers and grumblers—yes and there are profiteers and political partisans, and I would send the whole four groups to somewhere where they weren't so likely to be run over by steam engines as they would be were they at the mercy of the Canadians such as are represented here."

Merchants Casualty Company Explain

Sam Creighton, insured in the Merchants Casualty through J. B. Dunton, travelling agent, on or about the 29th day of May 1914 insurance premiums to be paid quarterly in advance. Policy permits to be paid to authorized collectors of the Company. The authorized collector in this case was P. McDermott of Rocky Mountain House. A quarterly premium was due on 1st August 1914. The local collector did not report payment of this till 10th October. No date on which the premium had been paid being reported by the collector.

On 22nd October 1914 the Company received notice of injury as having happened to Mr. Creighton on 2nd October 1914. Four letters were written at different times to the local collector to ascertain date of payment of the premium to which the policy was ever received and the Company has never since received any communication from collector. After considerable delay, the claimant furnished his receipt book showing collector's receipt for the premium, but the receipt book had evidently been altered by erasures. Claimant claimed to have made the payment on the 28th day of September 1914 nearly two weeks after payment was due. The accident happened only four days thereafter and at the time the accident happened and for over two weeks thereafter, that is at the time the accident was reported to the Company, the Company's agent had not reported payment of the premium. In such circumstances the Company was entitled to have full investigation before deciding to pay the claim. It was the intention of the company to defend the action brought by Mr. Creighton, not for the purpose of evading payment of a just claim, but to compel the claimant in view of the incontestable facts in connection with the matter to establish the bona fides of the claim. The Company, however, mistook the date on which defense was to be filed, and judgment having been entered by default the Company thought it best to pay the claim."

Without having the above facts before us we published on July 5th 1916, an article headed "The Merchants Casualty Company" and on the 10th day of August 1916, published another article headed "The Merchants Casualty Company pays up". These articles were written with regard to the above mentioned claim without, as already stated, the writer being in possession of the above facts with the result, no doubt that our articles unwittingly did the company an injustice, and we take this opportunity of correcting any wrong impression which they may have made. An action was begun against us by the company in respect to these articles, which has been amicably settled, but we consider it only fair to the Company that we should put the true facts in respect to this matter before our readers. Since we have been furnished with the above information in respect to Mr. Creighton's claim, we feel satisfied that the Merchants Casualty Company in conducting their accident insurance business are endeavoring to treat their clients in a manner that will be fair to the individual as well as to all others having interests in the company, and also protect in dealing with individual cases.

The Rex was crowded on Thursday evening last Red Cross Night, and all were delighted with the program. Mrs. Graham was in charge of the music, and sang two songs in her usual capable manner, which were enjoyed to the limit. Her share of the receipts amounted to $5.75, which sum has been turned over to the Red Cross.

The Rex has secured for tomorrow night, Red Cross night, another great Bluebird photo drama, "Gloriana," in which that charming little actress Zoe Rae, has the leading part. Bluebirds are getting a firm hold on the theatre going people of Lacombe, and Thursday nights are looked forward to with pleasure by young and old. The Rex is making a special effort to make Red Cross night a special event, and are succeeding in getting the best features for this occasion. Twenty per cent. of the proceeds on this night go to the Red Cross, to turn out. Mrs. Graham will have charge of the music.

Charlie Chaplin will visit the Rex on Friday evening next, in his very latest laugh producer, "Easy Street." This is said to be funnier than any yet produced by the premier fun maker of the continent, and is well worth seeing.

A Red feather drama, "Heart Strings," is the feature for the Rex on Saturday and Monday next. Maude George is in the lead, and is assisted by the Red Feather all star cast. There are no better pictures than Red Feather productions, they are full of life and action, and are becoming favorites with our audiences.

See us for pumps, we carry the Myers, also a full line of pipe. All sizes. Morrison and Johnston Ltd.

From close observation of conditions in several of the warring nations of Europe Mr. George Bury comes back to Canada with a pertinent word for Canadians. The vice-president of the Canadian Pacific is convinced that our past mode of living has been too wasteful and he warns us to get down to more simple forms and economical conditions. With the prices of everything we need soaring as they are, there would seem to be the finest of incentives for us to economize, and yet it is doubtful if very many of us have sensed yet what real economizing means.

Sir Robert Borden speaking of the press, hints that while its influence is great, its responsibility is equally great, which is very true. But in these war times the average newspaper man is not able to see much more than one phase of his responsibility—to rustle enough cash to pay the paper bill and the men's wages.

RIMBEY NEWS

The weather of the past week has been very disappointing to the farmers as well as to the village. The farmers hope to be on the land this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason, of Seattle have rented the Shreeves' residence for the present. We hope they will like Alberta.

On April 19, Misses Ethel Rimbe, Marie Coverdale and Frank Coverdale, of Rimbe, attended the wedding of Miss Marie Craig and Albert Donnelly, at the Catholic Church, Lacombe.

Harold Eckhart sold four carloads of hogs for the Rimbe and Bentley farmers last week at the good price of $15 per 100.

We don't expect to see a lumber wagon this summer, our farmers will all have found the price of hogs in the cause.

Mrs. V. Symonds died on Tuesday morning, April 19th, aged 69 years. She has been ailing for the past several months and her death was not unexpected. The members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton, Lacombe; Will Symonds, Mountain House, Mr. and Mrs. Bunch and daughter, Lulu, and Mrs. B. Gilbert, Mr. A.

FROM FOREST TO OUR YARD

The lumber that reaches here is a matter of skilled selection. Consequently to buy lumber here is to buy the best. We have no other kind.

Symonds and grand daughter, Mrs. Mable E. Symonds.

Martha Anne Pillson was born at Goodwood, near Portsmouth, Sussex Co., England, on Dec. 31, 1847; died at Rimbe, Alta., April 19th, 1927, aged 69 years, 8 months and 19 days. She was married nearly 50 years ago to Frank R. Symonds, soon after going to Iowa, U. S., residing there thirty-five years, where they were among the earliest settlers. They again moved to Rimbe, Alta., fourteen years ago, where they lived on their farm until three years ago when they moved to Rimbe.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, six sons and four daughters. Four sons and one daughter are in the United States, and her husband, two sons and three daughters are in Alberta, Canada, besides many grand children, one of them still residing with their grand father at Rimbe, and two great grand children, and many friends in England, U. S. and Alberta.

She will be sadly missed by her family and friends, as her first thought was always for others' good, but our loss will be heaven's gain.

Miss Mable Fleming and Geo. Manson attended the teacher's Convention at Calgary during Easter week. Mr. Manson went on to McLeod and spent a few days with Mrs. and Mr. Loyd, two of Rimbe's most popular young folks.

Mrs. Pridgeon, mother of Mrs. T. A. Idings, and Mr. Dick Pridgeon, died on Saturday, April 21st, at the home of her daughter, Mr. The funeral service was held at the M. E. Church at 2 o'clock on Monday.

U. F. A. SUNDAY

Dear Editor: I have been very much impressed with the fact that the day set apart by the U. F. A. is Pentecost, and as of old, so again on May 21st, the day of Pentecost will have fully come, because this year we commemorated Easter at the divine appointed time. We know it was the divine intention that our year should start in the Spring, March 35th being the first day of the year. On the 14th day of the first month the Paschal Lamb was slain, this is on the 6th of April; then on the 16th day of the month being the feast of the First Fruits, Christ arose from the dead, thus verifying the great truth that He was First Fruit from the dead. From this feast seven Sabbaths were to be counted, making in all forty-nine days, and the fiftieth day was the feast of the Pentecost. This comes on May 27th.

God grant that the Pentecostal blessing will be ours. Let us ask great things from God, and expect great things from God, on May 27th.

It's Up to You!

Why should you go through life with half sight, or painful vision?

The other day I fitted a man with glasses who had gone through life so near sighted that he could not recognise a friend across the street. This man had never known the joy of clear vision, and it was a pleasure to see his delight when he viewed distant objects for the first time.

Then there is the person who has a headache after reading for a short time. It is more painful than the near sighted condition, but yields equally when proper glasses are worn. If you are having trouble with your eyes, come in and have them tested.

ABOUT CHIEF MILLER

Dear Editor:—Has the question of dismissing Chief Miller ever been before the council, and if so how did the members of the council vote on the matter? I hear many strange things about this and would like you to put me right. Yours truly, Citizen.

We have much pleasure in putting you right on this question. The question of dismissing Chief Miller has never been brought before the Council. No member of the council ever brought in a motion to have Mr. Miller dismissed, therefore no vote was ever taken on the matter. The Council as a whole is perfectly satisfied with Chief Miller as a policeman, and are of the opinion that he has always been faithful in the discharge of his duties. It is however, the unanimous opinion of the council that the position of constable in Lacombe should be given to a returned soldier, and the position of constable is open at present to a returned soldier who is willing to perform the duties. In this Mr. Miller agrees, and so soon as a veteran agreeable to the council makes application there will be no need to dismiss him as he will willingly resign. Mr. Miller has expressed himself very strongly on this matter. He says he is doing his work to the best of his ability, without either fear or favor, and thinks he is satisfactory to the great majority of our rate-payers. He however, is quite prepared at any time to throw up his situation in favor of one of our returned soldiers, and thinks by doing so he would only be doing his duty as a British subject. —Editor Globe.

CARMICHAEL-SMITH

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bullock, of Meadowbrook, near Lacombe, on Wednesday, the 25th, when their grand daughter, Miss Martha Maude Smith, was united in matrimony to Mr. William Patterson Carmichael, of that district, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael, of Belfast, Ireland. The bride, who was most charmingly fitted, and carried a handsome bouquet of roses, was attended by her sister Miss Fanny Smith, while Mr. James Reynolds acted as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Hollingsworth, Lacombe, in the presence of a large number of invited guests, after which all sat down to a very dainty repast. Numerous presents had been showered upon the happy couple, and they receive the heartiest of good wishes from the community among whom they intend to reside.

QUALITY CHICKEN MEAT

Experimental Farms Note.
Crate feeding on milk mash will do more to put quality in chicken meat than any other practice. The small portion of the consuming public that have eaten crate milk fed poultry, have no desire to purchase the range and yard fattened birds, as there is such a great difference in the quality of the meat of the birds handled under the two different systems.

Crate feeding on milk mash is a simple process that may be practiced on few or many birds. At the experimental station for Vancouver Island, six crates to accommodate eighty birds were prepared and five birds of average weight of three and one half pounds were confined in each section. These birds were fed for a period of fourteen days and made an average gain of three pounds per bird. The meal mixture used was sixty per cent. wheat middlings and forty per cent. corn meal. To this meal mixture was added three ounces of salt for each 100 pounds of feed. The birds were starved twenty-four hours and given a mild dose of Epsom salts before feeding commenced. They were fed sparingly the first day and the quantity of feed increased every meal until they were on full feed at the end of the third day. The allotted quantity of meal for each feed was mixed with four skim milk to the consistency of porridge. These feeds were given each day at intervals of six hours. Grit was supplied each week and chopped green Swiss chard was given daily at noon.

The quantity of meal mixture and skim milk required for a pound of grain was about one pound, thirteen and a half ounces of meal and three pounds three ounces of skim milk. Valuing the meal at three cents per pound and the skim milk at fifty cents per hundred pounds, the cost of each pound of gain was seven and a half cents.

Starting on three and a half pound than birds and increasing them to five and a half pound high quality birds at a cost of fifteen cents the five and a half pounds of first quality chicken meat was sold for twenty-seven cents per pound, which was an advance of 9 cents over the ruling price for the not especially fed birds. These three and a half pound birds were selling for 18 cents per pound or sixty three cents per bird. The added fattening weight brought them up to the five and a half pound weight and increased the quality and value of the original three and a half pounds so they were sold for a dollar and forty eight cents per bird. In other words, a sixty-three c. chicken was, by the crate milk feeding method, at a cost of fifteen cents converted into a first quality chicken that sold readily at one dollar and forty-eight cents. Quantity in table poultry will sell at 15c. Quality in table poultry will lift the industry to the level attained by other competing food products. Cull poultry will always be just as hard to sell as cull apples. Try crate milk feeding a few birds for your own table, eat them and you will not want any other bird. Quality will count with you ever afterwards.
